Assembly:

1. Print on cardstock.
2. Cut out pieces, leaving enough edge so they are big enough for the ball to hide behind.
3. Laminate for durability and add scratchy side velcro (feltboard) or magnets (magnet board) to the back – make sure velcro/magnets are placed on top so there is room for the ball to “hide” behind each picture.

Playing the game:

1. Show the children the ball—tell them you’re going to hide the ball and they have to find it.
2. Show the pictures to the children one at a time asking what it is.
3. Once identified, place each picture on the board.
4. Once all pictures have been identified, turn the board around and hide the ball under one of them.
5. Have the children say the following with you, “Little ball, little ball, are you hiding under the __?” Pause to see if they can say the name of the picture.
6. Dramatically pull the picture off the board and continue until the ball is found.
